

Interested in being a Charity Trustee?

BUSINESS IN THE COMMUNITY

Trustees fulfil an important role in supporting charities. Effectively, they lead and guide the charity in making sure it is doing what it is set up to do. The role of charity trustee requires commitment and responsibility. It allows you to see the charity's positive effects on people and contribution to society but can also help you gain new skills and experience that may help you develop your career.

There are a number of Charities in Blackpool, Wyre and Fylde who could really do with help from business people to manage their day-to-day activity, or as they plan for the future. You can make a difference by providing your skills, experience and leadership.
