Role:	Manager for Employee Guidance, Policy and Training
No of years in your current role:	1.5 years

Pen Picture (Brief description of you and your work history)
I have worked for the Legal Aid Agency for over 20 years in a variety of roles including Admin, Caseworker, Auditor and Team Manager. In my current role, I provide support and guidance to managers and staff on the H.R. policies and guidance. This includes ensuring a consistent approach is taken when managing attendance, assisting with disciplinary & grievances, managing recruitment campaigns, facilitating workshops and training sessions on H.R. policies and some of the softer skills – e.g. dealing with difficult conversations. I also organise and co-ordinate events and coach staff.

Host role outline. What a day's shadowing may involve?
Preparing or delivering training, dealing with queries, attending daily management meeting, dealing with recruitment i.e. sifting applications or doing interviews, Preparing stats on sickness absence, coaching staff. There would also be the opportunity to spend some time with other managers in our office.

What do you think people may gain from shadowing you?
A better understanding of the work undertaken at the Legal Aid Agency – we are fairly new to the Civil Service. They would also get an insight into how the South Tyneside office is managed. We have received excellent scores in the people surveys in recent years and we are proud of how the management team work together to achieve the Agency's goals.

My first full time employment has been my current role with HMRC which I started in January 2009. I really enjoy my job and I love to teach others about it. I am passionate about my role and teaching others and ensuring they understand what I am aiming to teach. I am friendly and easy to get on with (which definitely helps when mentoring!) I am a good listener and understand what it is like for someone who is learning and does not fully understand a subject.

What will a day shadowing you incorporate?
The day will incorporate an introduction to my job role as well as an overview of the systems I use to carry out my duties whilst on the phone, the person shadowing will experience what it is like to deal with phone calls from taxpayers in regard to their income tax and self-assessment. I deal with a wide variety of calls on these lines of business and I think it will be a very good and insightful learning experience for someone who is shadowing to see how the telephone side of things works in HMRC.

What do you think people may gain from shadowing you?
I have mentored many colleagues, all of whom have provided positive feedback on the way I have conducted these sessions. I always give my colleagues the chance to put forward their questions and queries and answer these in line with my extensive knowledge of taxes. If I cannot answer a question, I will find out the answer and inform my colleagues of this ensuring their understanding throughout the process. I always ensure I am available to answer any questions or queries they may have after any session also by informing them of my contact details (email). I believe I am a good teacher and have received feedback to this effect from colleagues and I think anyone who shadows me will benefit from my experience. I feel they will gain valuable insight and an understanding of the role of a taxes telephony adviser in terms of how we deal with these queries and the processes and actions involved before, during and after a call.

I have done a variety of commercial, policy and delivery roles in two different departments in the Civil Service. Before that, I worked for a local MP in their constituency office.

Host role outline. What a day's shadowing may involve?
The DfE has identified 12 'Opportunity Areas' in the country, which are social mobility "cold spots". My team and I work in Doncaster with local partners to break the link between background and destination. A day shadowing us (including me and my G7 Delivery Lead) would involve meeting with local stakeholders in the borough to discuss progress being made against our delivery plan. This is an exciting role and would be great for someone looking to improve their stakeholder engagement skills. It's a really exciting project that is making a real difference to the lives of young people in Doncaster and it may be possible to see some of this in practice.

What do you think people may gain from shadowing you?
They would gain insight into how the DfE is delivering a place-based delivery approach to improving educational outcomes. It would be good for someone looking to move into a delivery role or wanting to improve their stakeholder engagement skills.
