Department for a Day (D4D)

Civil Service Academy project success at Civil Service Live 2018

The Branson family from last year's Civil Service Academy had a great success promoting their project at Civil Service Live in Birmingham on 13 June. The project has created a flexible framework for Civil Servants to visit other departments, so that best practice can be shared, attendees get a flavour of what it is like in another department and help to develop a more 'joined up' approach across the Civil Service.

This approach was mentioned by John Manzoni in the Collaborative leadership seminar as a good example of getting departments to work together. The project team signed up close to 500 interested parties as either potential ambassadors for host departments or attendees keen to find out more about another department.

Thank you to all those who signed up and watch this space for additional information on actual D4D days that you can attend. If you expressed an interest in becoming an ambassador the project team will be in touch soon on how we will be arranging the D4D visit days.

If you'd like to find out more about the project please contact:

National Citizens Service Summer 18 programme

About NCS

The National Citizenship Service (NCS) is a government funded youth scheme that school leavers (16/17 years olds) sign up for at the end of year 11.

NCS is split up into 4 weeks. The first week is residential and they visit an outward-bound camp site. Second week is residential again where they stop at a university and do various workshops around confidence and employability. Then the 3 and 4 week is their social action project where they plan and then deliver something that will make an impact in their local area. This can be from supporting a local charity or renovating a local area etc. For example: sponsored events such as cycling from Nottingham to London overnight and raising over a £1000; or to supporting a local care home and renovating their garden space for the elderly to use in the summer.

So how can you help? And where does the dragons den come into the programme?

The dragons den is situated on the second day of week 3. The young people and their groups would have started planning their social action project and they must present the ideas to a panel of Dragons. This will help them build extra skills such as, presenting in front of people which could help them massively in future life when going for job interviews.

The young people will be expected to dress smart and put together a very formal presentation, so it will give a great feel to what its like in the world of work.

NCS at FITC (Mansfield and Nottingham)

We have over 750 young people taking part on NCS here at FITC from 3 different regions; Mansfield, Erewash and Nottingham. We are the biggest NCS provider in the Nottinghamshire area and been the best large Local provider in our region for the past 2 years.

Love your community

The 'Love Your Community' workshops run on Wednesdays starting on the 4th of July until the 8th of August. The workshops are timetabled for 9am until 12pm and repeat every week. We already have the presentation and activities prepared, we would just be looking for a volunteer, perhaps from the council sector, to deliver this for us. Ideally, they would be from the Wellingborough, Northampton or Loughborough area.

Business challenge

The 'Business Challenge' runs on the afternoon of the Wednesdays from 1.30pm until 4.30pm. The presenter would need to prepare a short presentation about the world of business and set the young people on task to create a business relevant to their local community. The initial presentation does not need to be long but it would be helpful if they could remain on site to help provide feedback and shape the ideas of the groups. We can assist with the preparation of the presentation if needed.

Ideas for Careers

Just as a reminder, here is a description of our workshops;

What's My Line? (Employer interactions)	A sort of 'speed dating' event where learners are divided into small groups and spend up to 10 minutes with each employer. Learners have a pre-set list of questions to ask to find out about the employer's occupation. Employers also have the opportunity to talk to the learners about their career journey, routes into their industry and a typical working day. Apprentices are also welcome at this session to talk about their own experiences. The session aims to give learners a flavour of a range of jobs, the skills and personal attributes required and an opportunity to develop their communication skills.
The Apprentice Project (Employer interactions)	Each employer works with a small group of learners who are tasked with creating a product that during the session they will design, produce a sample and then present to 'Lord Sugar'. The employer supports the learners with the process and offers feedback on their performance of the task from start to finish with an emphasis on effective teamwork, presentation, time management, enterprise, leadership and how these skills relate to the workplace.
How to Get On at Work and Employer	Each employer works with a small group of learners, going through a set of pre-set questions to enable them to understand the rights and responsibilities of employers and employees in the workplace. Issues covered during the sessions

(Employer interactions)	include misuse of mobile devices, sexist comments and the likely consequences to the employee of these actions.
Know Your Potential Employer (Employer interactions)	This workshop covers what an employer can know about you, so that you make the best impression and how to find out about an employer, so that you can match what they want.
Mock Interviews	Employers will get the opportunity to interview students on a one basis for a generic job role, to help the students practice their interviewing skills.
Impress the Employer (Employability)	Each employer works with a small group of learners to help them understand what employers expect to see on a CV. Employers support students with identifying the skills and personal attributes they already have and how to evidence these effectively.

Work Preparation Day – Pershore

The Generation STEM Project is seeking volunteers from a variety of employers to take part in a Work Preparation Day with Year 10 students (aged 14-15) on Tuesday 24th of July at Pershore High @ Station Rd, Pershore WR10 2BX (2 volunteers needed). You will take the role of a 'Business Partner', sharing your personal career journey and experience of navigating the job market as you guide a small group of students through various activities including writing effective job applications and performing well at an interview. If you're keen to give young people a concrete idea of what modern-day employers are looking for then this is the opportunity for you!

Why employer volunteers?

The key element to these WPD days are YOU, our volunteers. Your experience and knowledge is what the students profit most from. However, we do not expect you to prepare anything in advance!

You will be given an information pack prior to the day. It will have all the same resources that the students will receive with extra ideas for running sessions and guidance notes. You really need only your willingness to engage enthusiastically with young people.

Throughout the day, the Project Coordinator will be on hand. They will introduce you and be around to help and answer questions. At no point will volunteers be asked to supervise students on their own! The school will have teachers present at all times.

Our volunteers will be looked after during the day and the school will provide refreshments and lunch.

If you would like to know more, please contact the Project Coordinator-Dolly Fink.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Preparation for Work Experience

Where: Wood Green Academy

When: 17 July 2018 9.30 – 15.00

This day acts as a valuable tool for pupils who will be attending a work experience placement in September 2018. We will focus on Health and Safety at work, how to behave on work experience, practicalities e.g. how to travel to work, what pupils should be hoping to gain from Work Experience and what questions should they ask when they are there. This day is designed to prepare young people for potentially their first experience within a work environment.

We are looking for volunteers who would be willing to speak to pupils about their job role and the importance of work experience. This will be done in small groups.

Two volunteers would be ideal for this event.

Lincolnshire Wildlife Trust

Lincolnshire Wildlife Trust is a charity, set up to protect our wildlife and wild places. They manage over 8,500 acres of nature reserves in the county. These protect all sorts of wildlife and wild places, such as kingfishers, otters and bitterns on wetlands; area butterflies and flowers on heathlands; little terns and thousands of wading birds on the coast; and flowery meadows buzzing with insects. All these nature reserves are open to members, and many are also open to the public or for educational services.

Over the summer, they make hay and might need a team of rakers, or wild meadow planting in the spring on a reserve or green space nearby.
